U.S. Jets Hit Closest Yet To China's Border

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Air Force F4 Phantoms hit a highway bridge just one minute away—at their supersonic speeds—from Red China's border Sunday in the war's closest strike yet to the border.

The pilots said their bombs knocked out the center span of the That Khe highway bridge seven miles from China and 92 miles north-northeast of Hanoi. The closest previous raid to China's border was 10 miles away Aug. 13.

Navy pilots flew follow-up missions against three targets inside the Haiphong, apparently trying to cut rail and road arteries carrying supplies out of the North Vietnamese port city to Communist troops fighting in South Vietnam.

Hit Haiphong Bridge

Skyhawk jets unloaded 500-, 1,000- and 2,000-pound bombs on a railroad and highway bridge just one mile west of the city's center. They also hit a rail yard 17 miles from the center and a warehouse complex 13 miles from its center. Those targets were hit for the first time a week ago.

Clearing weather over the North enabled Air Force, Navy and Marine pilots to fly 109 missions, most directed against targets in the heavily defended area around Hanoi and Haiphong.

One plane was reported lost. The strikes emphasized the air war policy of keeping maximum pressure on Hanoi during the remaining three or four weeks of favorable weather before the monsoon.

In and slightly north of the demilitarized zone that separates the two Vietnams, high-altitude B-52 bombers unloaded more than 450,000 pounds of bombs in three sweeps over suspected Red infiltration sites.

In the heaviest ground action in the South, 2,000 American infantrymen were airlifted by helicopter into the heart of a Viet Cong stronghold 30 miles north of Saigon in the Ho Bo Woods. Guerrillas greeted the massive hunt-and-kill operation with sharp fire at two chopper landing zones.

Loss Another Plane

Sunday's air strikes cost another U.S. plane, the 679th warplane announced lost in combat over North Vietnam.

Military spokesmen said an Air Force RF4C Phantom reconnaissance jet went down to Communist ground fire. The two crewmen were reported missing.

North Vietnam claimed four U.S. warplanes were shot down, including three near Haiphong. U.S. headquarters made no mention of these but has a policy of withholding the announcement of plane losses during rescue attempts.

North Vietnamese MIG interceptors shot down an unarmed and unescorted Air Force RF101 Voodoo flying a reconnaissance mission Saturday and the pilot was reported missing.

Detroit Teachers Get $850 Hike; Short Yr.

DETROIT SCHOOLTEACHERS, still out on strike, surge across a street in front of Detroit public school headquarters for a mass rally. Sunday the teachers rejected, by a 3,371 to 420 vote, a proposal to submit their salary dispute to binding arbitration. Today they were to vote on an offer which could end the school strike. ## School Starts On Tuesday If Teachers Sign

BULLETIN

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit teachers today ratified a proposed new two-year contract, signaling an end to a strike that has kept Detroit's public school doors closed to some 300,000 pupils for two weeks.

The unofficial ratification tally was 3,346—374 in favor of acceptance of an agreement hammered out in an all-night bargaining session.

DETROIT (AP) — Union leaders voted unanimously today to accept a proposal that could send some 300,000 Detroit public school pupils back to school Tuesday.

The tentative agreement was reached in a night-long bargaining session between negotiators for the Detroit Federation of Teachers (DFT) and the Detroit Board of Education. It must be approved by the teachers, however, before the schools can reopen.

The union's executive board voted unanimously to accept the proposal. However, the school board said the proposal called for an $850 across-the-board annual increase for two years and a 39-week school year.

The present school year is 40 weeks, and the teachers had demanded that it be cut to 38 weeks. The proposed salary schedule for teachers with a bachelor's degree would start at $6,650 this year and go to $7,500 next year, with minimums rising to $10,350 and $11,200 for those teaching in their 11th year.

For those with a master's degree, the 1967-68 salary for beginners would be $7,150 and go to $8,000 in 1968-69. For those in their 11th year, the minimum this year would be $10,850 and $11,700 next year.

Teachers with doctorate degrees beginning their teaching career this year would get $7,750 and go to $8,600 next year. For those in their 12th year, the pay scale would be $11,850 this year and $12,700 next year.

DFT President Mary Ellen Riordan told some 3,000 teachers at a ratification meeting that the vote would be taken as soon as the proposed contract terms had been mimeographed for distribution.

No Settlement

NEW YORK (AP) — "No settlement" was reported today following an all-night bargaining session on the public school teachers walk-out, now entering its second week.

Thus, Ashmore said, Johnson "effectively and brutally cancelled" the peace effort, nullifying the letter that was sent last Feb. 5.

Ashmore's charges were contained in an article in the first issue of Center Magazine, a new publication of the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions in Santa Barbara, of which Ashmore is now executive vice president.

In Miami, Baggs said, "The events Ashmore recorded are precisely correct as I recall them. There's lots more that he hasn't said. I'm going to say something this week. I may get into what he said and what he didn't say."

Baggs added, "The existing authorities, the White House and the State Department, asked us to lie doggo in the weeds and we did. They asked us to have a minimum public exposure."

When asked which of the four "probable" GOP candidates would most likely win election as president, the California poll result was Nixon 30 per cent, Reagan 26, Romney 19 and Percy 9. In March the result was Romney 40, Nixon 16, Reagan 11 and Percy 8.

The Gallup Poll said that if Romney withdraws as a candidate Nixon emerges as the top GOP contender 2-1 over his closest rival Rockefeller. The percentage scores were Nixon 40, Rockefeller 20, Reagan 15, Percy 12, Lindsay 4, and Hatfield 2 with the remainder having no preference.

A California state poll by the Los Angeles Times showed Nixon favored by 28 per cent of that state's GOP voters. Romney, the front-runner last March, was down 13 per cent-fied with Rockefeller.

The Times, in a copyright article, said their sampling last weekend showed Gov. Ronald Reagan of California was favored by 11 per cent of the Republicans who were interviewed. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Sen. Charles Percy of Illinois were at 4 per cent each; Sen. Mark Hatfield of Oregon, 2 per cent, and Mayor John Lindsay of New York, one per cent.

Editor Says LBJ Killed Peace Bid

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — An American journalist who visited Hanoi says a promising chance for peace talks on the war in Vietnam was personally scuttled by President Johnson.

Harry S. Ashmore, Pulitzer Prize-winning former editor of the Arkansas Gazette, visited Hanoi last January with Editor William C. Baggs of the Miami, Fla., News.

Ashmore said he and Baggs visited with Ho Chi Minh for two hours, and found the North Vietnamese premier "deliberately conciliatory and... Ho seemed prepared to consider a specific proposal based on a formula for mutual de-escalation."

"Ho had understood," Ashmore said, "that we would report our conversation to the State Department, and expected some response, since he had made arrangements to have any further message sent directly to him."

Letter Drafted
The response to Ho Chi Minh's attitude, Ashmore said, was a letter drafted by himself and Baggs in collaboration with William P. Bundy, assistant secretary of state for East Asian and Pacific affairs.

Ashmore said the letter reduced U.S. demands to "some reciprocal restraint" as a condition for a bombing halt prior to negotiations.

Despite this, President Johnson dispatched an uncompromising personal message to Ho Chi Minh, dated three days before the Ashmore-Baggs letter, Ashmore said.

State Department officials, including Bundy, declined to comment. Johnson's letter, Ashmore said, set forth "the most stringent demands yet made for advance assurance that Hanoi would halt all infiltration of troops to the South."

Thus, Ashmore said, Johnson "effectively and brutally cancelled" the peace effort, nullifying the letter that was sent last Feb. 5.

Ashmore's charges were contained in an article in the first issue of Center Magazine, a new publication of the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions in Santa Barbara, of which Ashmore is now executive vice president.

Brownsville, Tex. (AP) — A raging surf kept the lower Texas coast alert today to the menace of Hurricane Beulah, a killer storm gaining fresh fury as it boiled through the warm Gulf of Mexico.

It was still too far at sea, however, for any certain estimate of where Beulah might strike land again after a week-end swipe at Mexico's Yucatan Peninsula and the resort island of Cozumel.

Early today the Weather Bureau placed the center of the hurricane, packing winds up to 100 miles per hour, about 450 miles southeast of Brownsville, at the southernmost tip of Texas.

Beulah is expected to increase yet more in intensity during the next 12 to 24 hours, the National Hurricane Center in New Orleans said. The conditions appear favorable for Beulah to become a severe hurricane within 24 hours.

With its forward speed expected to remain about 12 M.P.H. or possibly slow a bit, Beulah seemed unlikely to reach land again before mid-morning Tuesday.

Its west-northwest course pointed the storm's center a little below Brownsville toward the coast of Mexico.

Last week Beulah claimed 18 lives in the eastern Caribbean. Broken communications made it difficult to assess the destruction wrought as Beulah smashed at the Yucatan Peninsula and Cozumel. Peak winds whirled from 125 to 75 m.p.h. while the storm was boiling across this land mass.

The Weather Bureau said reports indicated Beulah would turn gradually to a more northwesterly course later today or tonight.

While Beulah remained a menace, Doria tamed down from a hurricane to a tropical storm and moved away from the east coast after a glancing blow at Maryland, Delaware, Virginia and North Carolina.

Doria, blamed for two deaths, headed southeast in the Atlantic after pounding seaside communities extensively and was expected to regain force over water.

Shrine Of Missionaries Project Is Underway

SAULT STE. MARIE — A 21-story structure being erected on historic ground on Sault Ste. Marie's Portage Avenue is only a part of an edifice which will be dedicated as a memorial to holy men who brought Christianity to this part of America.

Although the imposing 210-foot bell tower, now about one quarter built, overshadows the landscape at this point, the whole picture of the Shrine of the Missionaries can be found in an intricately created model on the lawn of St. Mary's Church.

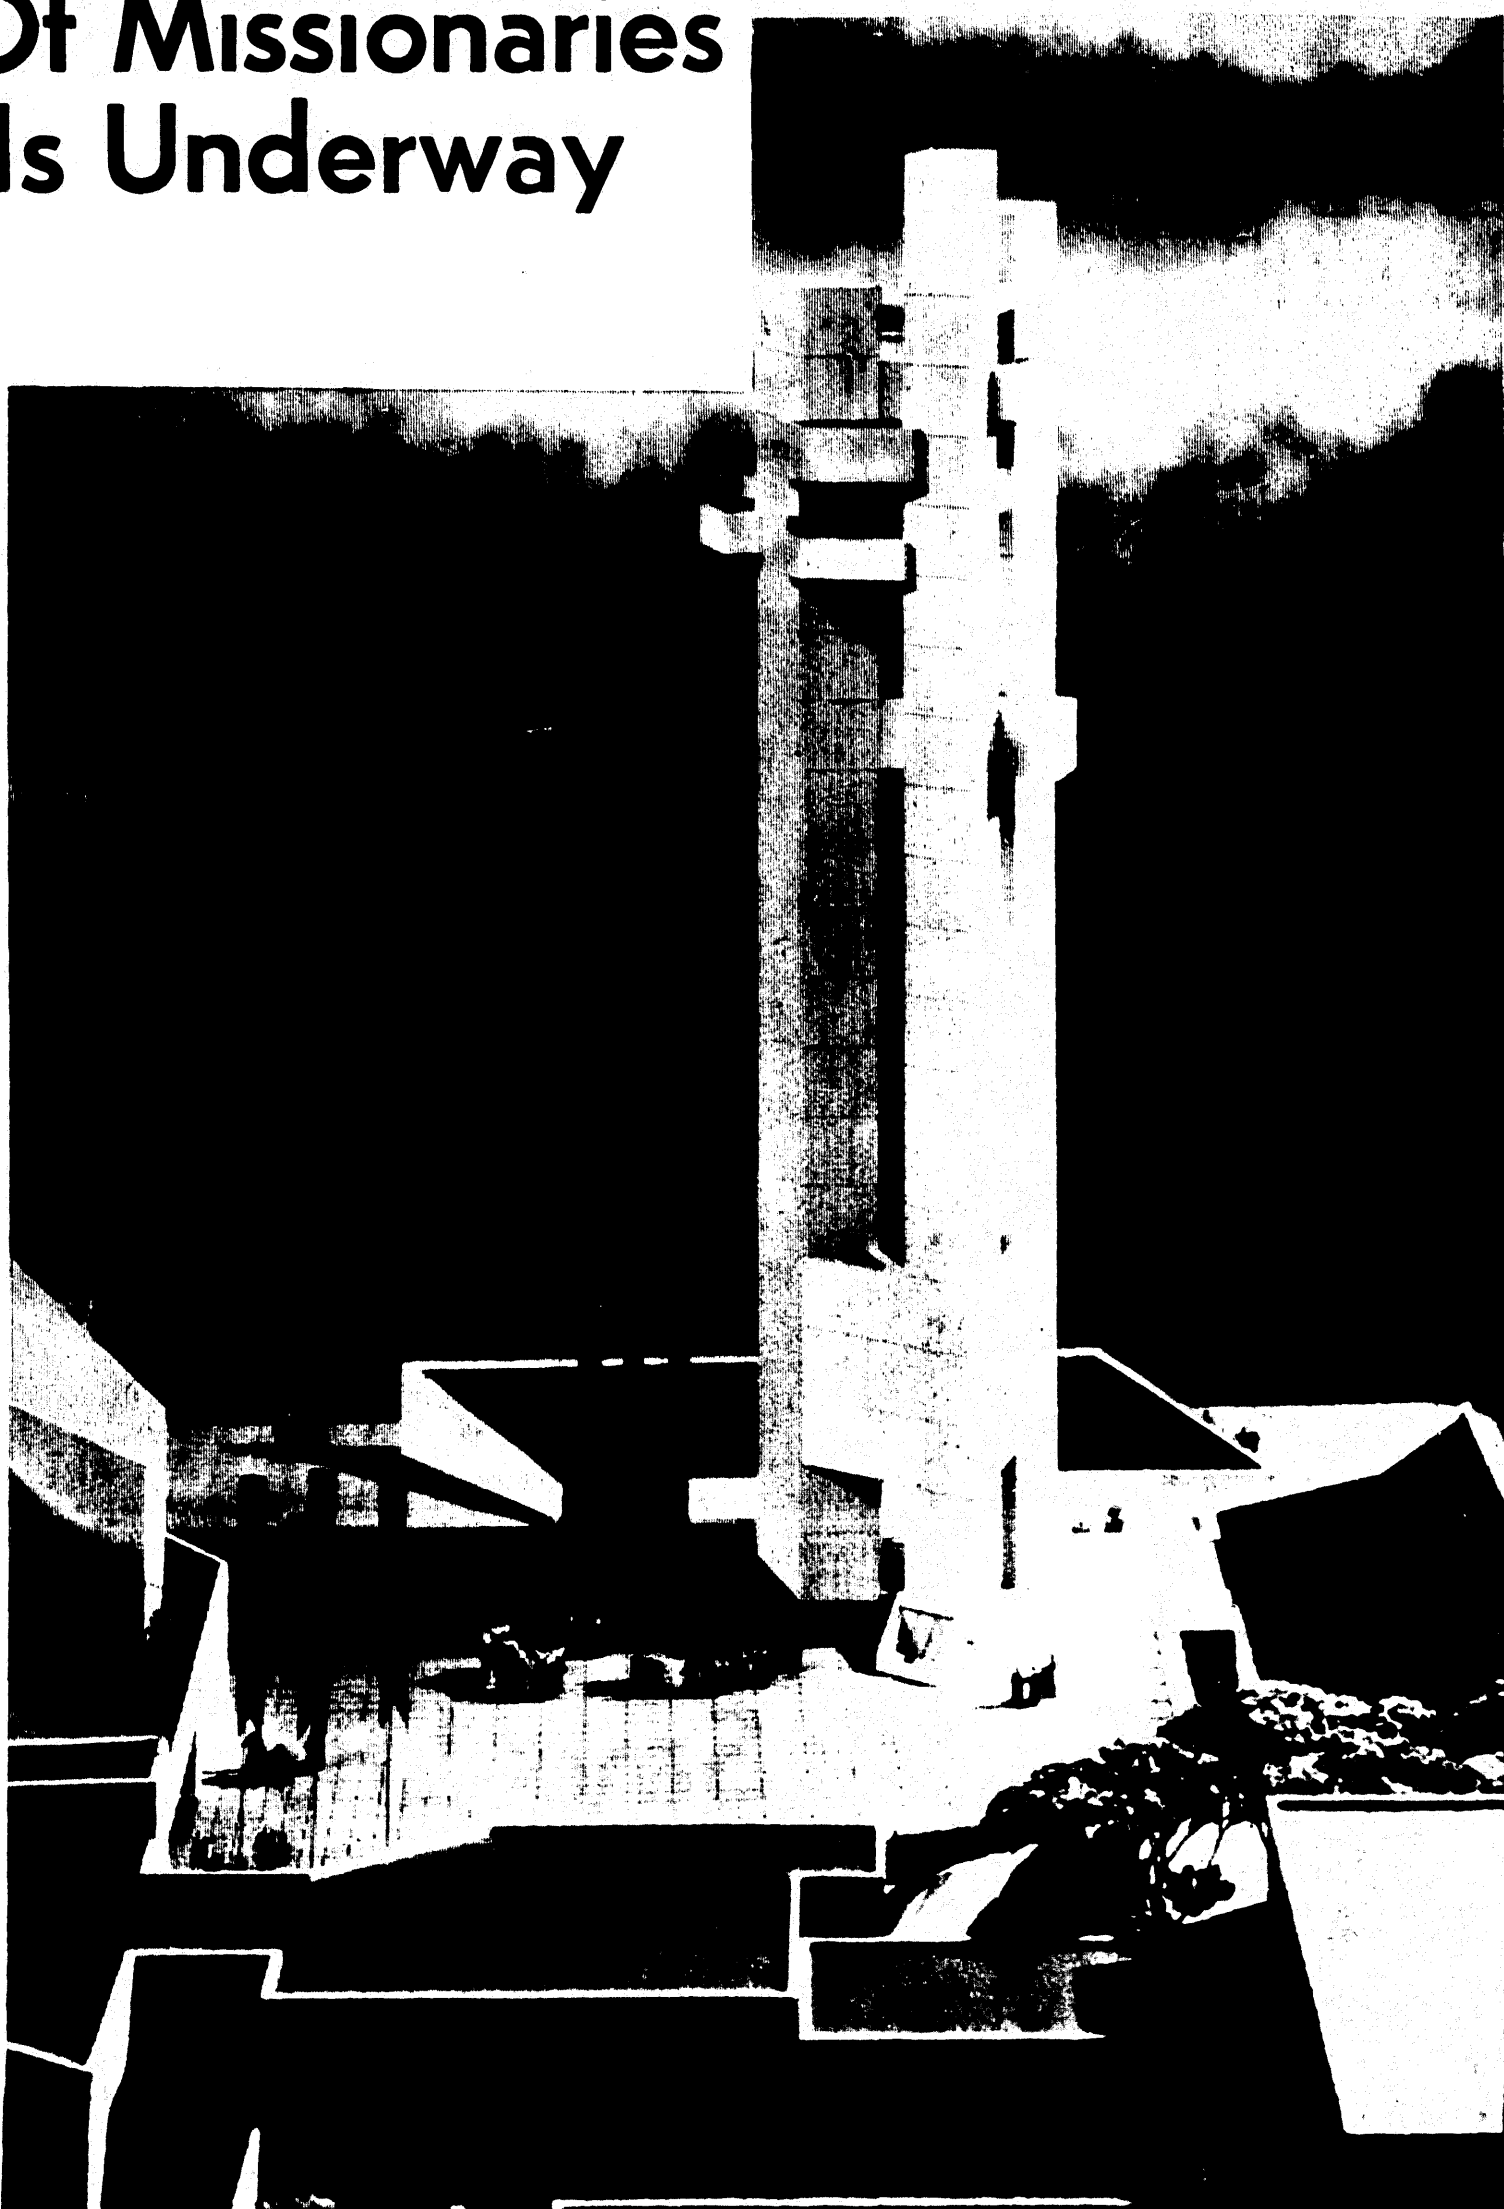

A booklet composed by Henry Fehren is lavishly illustrated with photographs of the model and outlines in detail the ambitious construction plans of St. Mary's parish.

When the Ste. Marie towers with their free swinging bells and elevator serviced observation platforms are completed and visitors can see the "vast stretches of rugged wilderness, the scene of historic missionary labors," work on the remainder of the complex will begin.

In galleries below the towers will be religious museums showing how Christianity came to this area. The galleries will help illustrate the Creation, Christian History, the lives and missions of St. Isaac Jogues, Father Marquette, Bishop Baraga, design of Vatican II and the Parousia.

Then will come a new St. Mary's Church and community center. The booklet says the church will be of "striking architecture and will embody the principles of post-Council liturgy with forms and materials of the present age." There will be numerous features such as communion places, Eucharistic shrine, nave, week day chapel, sacristy, baptistry, confessionals, social center, lecture halls, kitchen, library, pastoral center, convent and an administration center.

The entire design is bold, eye-catching, striking and quite magnificent in its starkness.

A MODEL SHOWS what the proposed St. Mary's Bell Tower and Shrine of the Missionaries, including a new church sanctuary will look like when completed.

Israel Problem Is Back In U.N.

UNITED NATIONS N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly reconvenes its emergency meeting on the Middle East today, but just to hand over the problem to the regular session that begins Tuesday without much hope of settling the Arab-Israeli dispute.

Statements Sunday in Cairo and by Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban re-emphasized that neither side was ready to move significantly from positions given in debate here after Israel's victory in the six-day June war. The emergency session, called June 17 by the Soviet Union after the Security Council worked out a cease-fire, bogged down in July with the Arabs arguing that Israel should unconditionally remove her forces from conquered territory and the Israelis insisting any withdrawal must be linked to negotiations and an end to Arab hostility.

The emergency meetings are expected to end with formal introduction by Austrian Ambassador Kurt Waldheim of an Austrian-Finnish-Swedish resolution placing the Middle East question "on the agenda of the assembly's 22nd regular session, as a matter of high priority."

But this "high priority" would not bring debate on the problem before the assembly until mid-October.

Eban, talking to reporters in New York, reflected a lack of hope for a settlement, saying it would be "extremely unrealistic to expect something substantial in this brief period of time" since the end of the June 5-10 War.

He stressed that Israel would accept no outside resolution of the conflict—a statement that underscored its rejection of peace proposals by Yugoslavia's President Tito.

Tito suggested withdrawal of Israeli troops in exchange for a major power guarantee of Israel's borders.

Any movement for peace, Eban said, must "grow within the region—it cannot be grafted on from the outside."

Sources in Cairo were reported still punning some hope on introduction of the Tito formula before the assembly. It is believed to have the support of President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

An Egyptian spokesman branded as "absurd and non-sensical" a report that Egypt would recognize Israel in a political solution of the Middle East question.

Over 1,000 Join Milwaukee March

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Singing, "We're gonna be your neighbors," more than 1,000 Negro and white open housing marchers streamed past thousands of watching whites on Milwaukee's South Side Sunday without serious incident.

One of the march leaders, Milwaukee's only Negro alderman, Mrs. Dale Phillips, said she would introduce an open housing ordinance at Tuesday's City Council meeting for the fifth time.

She said she expected the council to suspend its rules and "rain through" a proposed ban on mass marches at the same meeting. Mrs. Phillips has been the only alderman to vote for her open housing bill that has been rejected four times.

Milwaukee's city attorney John J. Fleming, has ruled a state open housing law makes it impossible for a city to pass its own ordinances on housing.

Sunday's march wound up the third week of daily demonstrations.

The marchers were also led by Negro comedian Dick Gregory.

Some whites yelled and cursed at the marchers, others waved, most just stood and watched. Three were arrested, one after a bottle was thrown into the street.

The marchers included several hundred clergymen, Roman Catholic nuns and members of civil rights groups from many states.

The Rev. James E. Groppi, a white Roman Catholic priest who is the advisor to the Milwaukee Youth Council of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, spoke to a capacity crowd at St. Boniface Church, where he is assistant pastor, before the demonstrators.

He stayed at the church apparently because of a cold and exhaustion.

Campaign Talk

Governor Romney has said that his mail about the "brainwashing" incident has been "overwhelmingly favorable" and his campaign manager, Leonard Hall, says that the incident may turn out to be a political asset for Romney instead of a liability.

Romney said in a TV interview that he had been "brainwashed" on a visit to Vietnam in 1965 and as a result believed that the war was justified. His more mature judgment after further study, he said, was that the war was unnecessary.

The national reaction was mixed, of course. The Democrats immediately seized on the expression to suggest that anyone who could be brainwashed shouldn't be president. They're still on this kick as an opportunity to cut Romney down in size.

The more serious result of the incident, apart from the major one of impact on Romney's public image as a presidential hopeful, is the influence it has on the infighting among the Republicans seeking the nomination.

Will Muller, Detroit News political writer, said that the incident had given Romney an early campaign break because it brought him criticism from Defense Secretary Robert McNamara.

"If anything was calculated to restore Romney's prestige with U. S. senators and representatives — and not just Republicans — it was to be attacked by McNamara," wrote Muller. "McNamara may be what many men of sound judgment say he is — the best and most efficient defense secretary of all time. Few credit him with being either politically astute or an apostle of truth in government."

The biggest imponderable in the Republican field of possible nominees at present is Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York, who failed of nomination the last time around and vowed he'd never try again. Such a vow is rated worthless in realistic politics. It is usually born of a belief that the office is unattainable, not undesirable.

Rockefeller is backing Romney at this point, strongly, vocally, and repeating that he isn't a candidate himself under any consideration. But if the Romney star should fade political commentators expect Rockefeller to back Gov. Ronald Reagan of California. This would help eliminate former Vice President Richard Nixon from the contest and would not be intended to groove in Reagan as much as to bring Rockefeller back on stage as the Republican's best bet to oust Lyndon Johnson.

The end result of such maneuvering would be a Rockefeller-Reagan ticket. The vice presidency used to be regarded as an understudy's role of small worth, but it has become a major element in presidential bids. John Kennedy's decision to take Lyndon Johnson as his running mate is credited with winning him the election.

A Reagan nomination in even the second slot would have appeal to the Goldwater faction of the party, which doesn't buy Rockefeller at all. A Rockefeller-Reagan ticket would be a pairing of strange bedfellows, but the Kennedy-Johnson state was as odd a pair of pajamas as we've seen in politics.

And while no man refuses the presidency, maybe Reagan would decline the vice presidential nomination, choosing to try later for the big one. The decision is a year away, the candidates have not even announced yet, but the campaign has been on for some time and the matchmakers don't want to be among the unemployed in the interim.

Sabotage Red Rules

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Reports reaching this reporter's contacts in Hong Kong and China indicate that while Mao Tse-tung, Lin Biao and Liu Shao-chi fight for control of Red China's government, the Chinese farmer is staging a quiet counterrevolution that threatens to destroy communism in wide areas of rural mainland China.

In many parts of Red China, farmers are whittling away at Communist party controls, undermining the authority of Communist officials, taking over official grain reserves and making life miserable for inspectors who come to supervise official grain collections.

Mao's officials complain that farmers in a number of provinces sell animals owned by the collectives, split up the proceeds among themselves. Other farmers pay no attention to state procurement quotas. Some refuse to pay state taxes. Others have decided to pay no taxes.

In some districts, farmers have arbitrarily decided to pay the state less for the use of government tractors, water and electricity.

In some communities, farmers have refused to repay state loans. In others, farmers have decided to cut their loan payments.

In widespread areas, farmers have embarked on passive, go-slow drills when party officials insist on grain deliveries.

In a number of places, lately, more farmers have on their own, abolished the group farming of land in "production teams." They are insisting the state split up the collectives and return the land to individual farmers.

In other areas, farmers have stepped up their clamor for the enlargement of their private plots.

In some places recently farmers have taken over the collectives on which they work, confiscated the state's share, divided the profits and reserves among individual farmers.

When pressured by city party officials, some farmers are bringing counterpressures by slowing the shipment of vegetables and grains to the cities. Farmers sabotage government projects by working sluggishly when called up to work as "volunteers."

Farmers squat on state land, farm it as though it were their own.

What this means is that the Chinese farmer, with no weapons except persistence, has begun on a wider scale to sabotage the Communist system of collections and quotas, collective labor, "volunteer" labor, "community work" and other state projects. But without the farm base, Chinese communism cannot endure.

The farmers' son are the bulk of Lin Biao's Red armies. When the farmers are unhappy their sons are unhappy and the morale of the Red army is low.

An imaginative U. S. foreign policy would make clear to mainland China's farmers what life is for free farmers in Japan, New Zealand, the United States, Canada and other non-Red countries. This could increase their stubborn resistance, make it more difficult for Peking to engage in aggression in Southeast Asia.

Wildlife Lovers Have A Treat In New Allen Book

By LEE SMITS

Returning to the most important word in the dictionary — Ecology. "A branch of science concerned with the interrelationship of organisms and their environment."

Comes a book, giving life, movement, drama to this cold definition. It is a beautiful book, highly readable; its author, Dr. Durward Allen of Purdue, who is directing a monumental wildlife study on Michigan's Isle Royale National Park.

The book, "The Life of Prairies and Plains" is produced in cooperation with the United States Department of the Interior, in a series, "Our Living World of Nature."

The Allen test is the kind of plain, yet colorful English that might be expected from a writer with an impressive list of books to his credit. His big achievement is the translation of basic biology into reading that will enchant anyone who has any feeling of kinship for the "living world of nature."

The Durward Allen story is accompanied by abundant illustrations, in color, many of them photographs taken by Dr. Allen, together with a few reproductions of famous paintings, all of them worthy of the brilliant story.

By vividly depicting the details of the living world between the Mississippi and the Rockies, the book gives to ecology its deepest meaning—the wholeness of earth's life chain, from grass seed to buffalo, from kit fox to Pawnee hunter to white rancher. In the background is the history of the region, going back to prehistoric animals and to such marvels as a prairie dog colony at the turn of the century covering 25,000 square miles with an estimated population of 400 million rodents; in Texas, of course.

The prairie dog survives. The bison has been saved from total extinction, sizable herds living in park preserves, although the species is deteriorating because for many generations it has lacked the challenge of the big wolf of the plains. Gone are the vast flocks of Eskimo curlew and the noble legions of trumpeter swan that plied the airways spring and fall before the white man took over.

There is a wealth of unusual information, scientific insight and ancient lore in this book. It is a joy to read, a problem to review, since any casual summing up is impossible. Its theme is the tremendous symphony of all outdoors, from grass roots and prairie pond holes to mountain peaks and global air currents.

The reader becomes aware that man, as dependent on topsoil, water, sunlight as any other animal, is at war with his own habitat. As expanding humanity smother the land, there is one hope—that the next generation and the next will awaken to the basic meanings of ecology, so that much-talked about conservation will come to have practical value.

Schools could be a big help. No better textbook for illuminating the consciousness of American youth could be found than "The Life of Prairies and Plains." It is a highly entertaining story for anyone who ever enjoyed a sunset, a singing bird, the call of sky-cruising geese. The book is published by McGraw-Hill Book Company, New York, Toronto, London.

Ann Landers

Bizarre Acts Still Get The Attention

Dear Ann Landers: I would like to form a club called the "Down With Hippies Society" or something like that. I am tired of reading about weirdos, pot smokers, LSDers, draft-card burners and the rest of those creeps. Why do we waste valuable magazine and newspaper space and prime TV time on blobs who contribute nothing, have earned nothing and amount to nothing?

These oddballs have the idea that they are something special because they are attracting so much attention. They go around ruining the scenery whenever they appear (just their presence is a blight). They enjoy the stares, hoping someone will start something so they can get into a fight and yell, "I am being persecuted because I am a nonconformist."

I was told recently that I am a square because I have a haircut, a clean neck and wear shoes with laces. I also shower every day and wear trousers that are so loose, I can actually sit down in them.

I know I am not alone in my views. There must be others who resent the fact that normal people don't get any time or space or attention. How about it? — DOWN WITH HIPPIES

Dear Down: Here's some space with more than 50 million readers. I, too, deplore the attention given to people who don't deserve it. But unfortunately, bizarre and oddball behavior is often more fascinating than decent living. So long as this is one the unalterable facts of life, the offset, the kook and the wayouter is going to grab the center of the stage.

Dear Ann Landers: You probably never heard of a problem like this in your whole life. I am a 12-year-old girl who needs your help. Don't you think a person who is on the verge of being a teen-ager should be able to open the fridge and help herself to a glass of milk or an apple without consulting her mother?

If I was a hog and ate half a pie or a pint of ice cream between meals I would say my mother had a right to be strict about snacking. But I am a sensible girl and not fat or anything.

Yesterday when Mom heard me pouring a glass of milk for myself she said, "Put it back. You must ask me if you want to eat between meals."

Every one of my friends can go into their fridges and eat whatever they want to, and you should see the glop they pack in. What is your opinion? — HUNGER?

Dear Hungry: I am assuming your story is the truth, the whole truth nothing but the truth — in which case the 12-year-old should be free to help herself to a glass of milk or a piece of fruit without asking special permission.

Dear Ann Landers: I am 42-year-old woman, in good health, and have straight morals. I am unmarried and I always did factory work. Now I have a chance to move into a lovely home and take over as a housekeeper.

I am undecided because I don't know what is expected of a housekeeper. What would I have to do? — IDELE

Dear Idele: If you have to ask what a housekeeper is supposed to do, forget about taking the job.

If you have trouble getting along with your parents... if you can't get them to let you live your own life, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom." Send 50c in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Jim: "Were they using limit raises?"

Oswald: "No. North's three spade bid was a force to game so he had bid the full value of his cards. I would be inclined to give West some credit for his good result. West did bid two clubs rather than two hearts."

Jim: "West didn't have much of a hand. I guess he wanted to keep the hearts in reserve in case he got doubled at two clubs."

Oswald: "He admitted that, and North explained that West's failure to bid hearts caused him to make the final slam bid. I sympathize with North but still feel that his six spade bid was inexcusable."

Jim: "I agree about North but must charge South with some blame. South should have cue bid diamonds before he gave North a chance to bid five diamonds over five clubs. When the bidding came to him as it did North had no choice except to bid some number of spades."

Rail Passenger Service Running Out Of Lives

By PHILIP LEE
CLEVELAND—(NEA)— The funeral for mass transportation by railroad isn't far away, according to all indications, trends, statistics and experts in the field. And there probably will be as many tears shed at the services as at those for the mean old man.

The railroads won't care. Interstate Commerce Commission figures show them losing about $400 million a year on passenger service.

A passenger shouldn't care after trying a trip fraught with delays, poor connections and service even between major cities, old and inadequate equipment and dust, dirt and grime instead of coffee, tea or milk.

As the Stanford Research Institute concluded in a recent report on 11 western railroads: "The field must be abandoned sooner or later to the swifter airplane, the cheaper and more convenient and the infinitely more flexible private automobile."

However, as the trains hurtle down the tracks toward a fate (perhaps a goal?) of strictly freight and mail hauling there seems to be that proverbial one more chance.

There's the possibility of a luxury or elite passenger service for those who aren't in a particular hurry. Some of the affluent today pay a premium for it (most notable: Jackie Gleason's party expresses), and there are those who enjoy the leisure of the cruise through the Caribbean more than a speedy jet arrival at Bermuda.

Despite what the everwidening number of daily passengers see of run-of-the-mill rail service, the railroads seem to have the tools at hand to provide luxury accommodations and are a long way from abandoning the possibility.

Basic in the workshop is the one being employed for profit and progress in every other field of industry and commerce. It's called research. For a good example of what's being done, and in no small way, take the 10-year-old Cleveland Technical Center of the New York Central.

The center, a laboratory building grouped in a 400-acre area with a locomotive shop, storehouse and switching facility just off Lake Erie, was opened when railroad hit its low ebb.

Aware of the plight, NYC president Alfred E. Perlman still forecast a brighter future with: "Revolutionary new development that could lead to the luxury service. About a year ago, center engineers took a modern Budd passenger car, installed a front engine shield and placed jet power on the roof.

Perlman himself climbed aboard for the jet test, with the vehicle actually a rolling laboratory loaded with 50-odd testing instruments and may-be even he was a little amazed at the results. The converted car rocketed down the tracks at a U.S. record rail speed of 183.75 miles per hour. More significant than the speed, the engineers say, is the run was made on standard track and roadbed — without fortification or alteration. The implication, of course, that it shouldn't cost much to put a jet-car into operation.

Speed runs have been tested on the Eastern corridor, particularly Washington-New York-Boston, but with government assistance.

Central officials are proud of doing it on their own, and being able to use existing roadbed should give the line a financial edge. But when and if it's put into operation is the question. NYC men aren't really answering now. They say:

"We obtained a great deal of information on the enduring qualities of our equipment and it will help to determine our future policy regarding passenger service." Much the same can be read in a brochure of the firm.

If anything of significance could be gleaned from the statement, it might be that "passenger service" is still a word used around U.S. railroad offices, and not necessarily used in vain.

While it may be dead as we knew it on a mass scale, the possible reincarnation could be something special for special-type people.

ices are coming out which will permit us to move our trains over our tracks faster, safer and more economically than ever before in the history of railroading."

Revolutionary might be stretching it, but the center can point to a dozen money-saving patents and profitmaking technological innovations and some fallout to other fields. Center director James J. Wright singles out something called a spectrometer as the major accomplishment.

It's a multiaxial, computer-type machine that tests the health of railroad engines by detecting unwanted metals in oil, thus permitting repairs ahead of schedule and saving hundreds of thousands of miles between oil changes.

Probably more important is the development that could lead to the luxury service. About a year ago, center engineers took a modern Budd passenger car, installed a front engine shield and placed jet power on the roof.

Perlman himself climbed aboard for the jet test, with the vehicle actually a rolling laboratory loaded with 50-odd testing instruments and may-be even he was a little amazed at the results. ## Connor Changes Name Of Firm

WAUSAU, Wis.—After more than 95 years of operation under the name Connor Lumber & Land Co., this wood products firm has changed its name to Connor Forest Industries.

The immediate reason for the new identity is an expanded line and diversified but integrated interests.

In 1872, the Connor men went into the woods for the sole purpose of logging. However, by using the kind of business foresight that comes from true appreciation of the natural resources, the founders of Connor Forest Industries prevented the company from entering the one-way street that saw the end of so many "pure" lumber companies over the years.

Today, Connor Forest Industries owns and manages thousands of acres of forestland in Wisconsin and in Michigan's choicest hardwood regions, and has managed to integrate the production of its various product divisions so completely as to be able to claim perfect utilization of raw material. "We use everything, including the bark on the trees," says Gordon R. Connor, president of Connor Forest Industries.

Auto Bargainers Begin Daily Talks

DETROIT AP — As the United Auto Workers' strike at the Ford Motor Co. moved into its 12th day, no end to the walk-out was in sight but both sides indicated today's session would be the start of daily negotiating.

The union appeared to be looking for a distant settlement, however, as top UAW officials spent an otherwise quiet weekend on the auto labor front drumming up support for huge dues hikes.

And the mood of the membership was heartening to the labor leaders who were met by cheers.

The UAW chiefs are seeking an increase big enough to finance the Ford strike on a pay-as-you-go basis and still leave union coffers with $100 million in its strike fund at the end of negotiations with the Big Three.

Cheer Dues Hike

"This is the first time in my life I've been cheered for telling guys we're going to hit 'em for another $20 a month in dues," said UAW Chrysler Department Director Douglas A. Fraser, after a St. Louis meeting.

"The reaction has been very warm and good," said union vice president and GM Department Director Leonard Woodcock in Buffalo, N.Y.

Asked Secretary-Treasurer Emil Mazow, "They realize this is a tough struggle and they're willing to finance it."

The union's strike fund figure is put at 167 million and when the 160,000 Ford workers start drawing benefits next week, the fund will be drained of $4 million a week.

At a special convention set for Oct. 8 in Detroit, the union may be asked to approve special dues of as much as $25 a week throughout the auto negotiations—and probably longer—plus a $1 increase in regular dues, now $5 a month in most locals.

Offset Strike Drain

If the October convention approves the $25 special dues, it would more than offset the drain from idle Ford workers by injecting an additional $4.25 million a month into the strike fund.

In a display of support over the weekend, nearly 300 skilled tradesmen—at odds with UAW leadership in recent days—picked Ford's plant in suburban River Rouge in a "unity demonstration."

The tradesmen from GM and Chrysler locals said they wanted to show their support for Ford workers.

Officers Pleased: 'All Well' In Guard Riot Drill

National Guard officers today indicated they were well satisfied with riot training drills Sunday in north Escanaba.

Capt. George Anderson, commander of Co. E, 107th Engineers, said the men did a "very good job" and that the unit had "excellent cooperation from the Escanaba police and fire departments."

He added that the public also cooperated, especially the kids, and that no complaints were received from anyone in the training area.

A section of north Escanaba between Stephenson Ave. and Sheridan Rd. was turned into a riot area Sunday afternoon as about 110 guardsmen from Co. E and the 1437th Float Bridge Co. completed the field portion of 32 hours of special riot training ordered after the Detroit strife in July.

Anderson said the drill Sunday included two fire calls, five or six snipers and a couple of mobs.

"We fired over 800 rounds of blanks," he continued, "but didn't use any gas."

About 17 guardsmen were assigned to the area as "rioters" to test the other members of the unit. Jeeps patrolled the area and roadblocks were established on Stephenson Ave. and Sheridan Rd. Civilian traffic, after being informed of the drill in process, was allowed to proceed.

Observers included Col. Austin Lindberg of Ishpeming, Upper Peninsula National Guard commander, and two members of the 5th Army assigned as advisors to the U.P. units, Maj. William Hollowell of Iron Mountain and Sgt. William Milenkamp of Ishpeming.

The mock rioters were instructed to "harass" the guardsmen, but keep activities below the level which might result in personal injury to anyone.

vote on something you know nothing about," Mrs. Riordan told the crowd.

Peter Grylls, chairman of the board's financial committee, told newsmen the package would cost $9.35 million a year.

"It's a little early to make a final decision on where the money is coming from," he said.

Grylls said the board would depend on the state to make up what otherwise will be an $8 million deficit if the contract goes into effect.

School Supt. Norman Drachler stressed that the board would carry out its school program commitments.

Asked if the settlement would lead to deficit financing, Grylls said, "We've got to spend more than the money we have on hand—if that's deficit financing, that's what we've got."

Drachler said he hoped to be able to announce the opening day of school by noon today. He added that the board and teachers would sit down together and work out how to make up the days that have been missed due to the strike.

Ordered To Work

PONTIAC AP — Teachers in the Detroit suburb of Birmingham were ordered to return to their classes today by Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer.

Beer signed the back-to-work order after a weekend of bargaining between the Birmingham Board of Education and Birmingham Education Association failed to produce a settlement in their salary dispute.

The court order had been drawn up Friday but left unsigned pending the last-ditch weekend of bargaining.

The education association has urged the district's 970 teachers to comply with the order. Teachers are to report to their schools this afternoon for meetings before the planned start of classes tomorrow.

Teachers have been on strike over a salary issue since the scheduled opening of school Sept. 7. The teachers are under an unexpired three-year contract in which salaries are open for negotiation this year.

Veterans Ask War Addresses Of Delta Men

Ray Robitaille, chairman of the program, said that the servicemen will be sent Christmas packages by the post. He said that the packages will include dry goods, such as pens, pencils, Kool-aid, fruit cakes and other items.

Addresses of Delta County servicemen should be sent to VFW Post 2998, Post Office Box 204, Escanaba. Post Commander is Ernest Briere.

Turk Game Ends In Riot; 41 Killed

KAYSERI, Turkey AP — Five thousand fans of a visiting soccer team angrily shouted objections to a home team goal Sunday. Stones were flying and panicky spectators stampeded for the exits. At least 41 fans died in the choking crush and a free-for-all fight that followed.

No players or referees in the minor league match between Sivasspor and Kayseri were hurt.

Officials said the toll of injured stood at 65, six in serious condition. Unofficial tallies, however, put the number of fatalities at more than 50 and that of injured in the hundreds.

The state minister in charge of sports affairs threatened to suspend all games in that league if necessary and take other stringent measures to prevent more riots.

President Cevdet Sunay called on the peoples of both Kayseri and Sivasspor to cooperate with officials to "lessen the saddening memory" of the events.

Officials would not confirm press reports that knives and pistols were used by the clashing fans. But eyewitnesses said that mobs tried to hunt down Sivasspor players after the stadium stampede and several buses that brought Sivasspor fans to Kayseri were set afire.

Gospel Meetings At Perkins Baptist Church

The Joce and Arelene Gospel team is holding one week of Gospel meetings at the Perkins Baptist Church. The daily program includes a wide variety of music, illustrated chalk drawings and children's meetings.

Joyce Kaufmann and Arelene Wilkins have been working together as a gospel team for the past 19 years. They have held one and two week evangelistic meetings throughout the United States and Canada. This past summer they have been busy in summer Bible Camp programs and daily Vacation Bible schools.

Each evening Joyce Kaufmann draws pictures with colored chalks and under the "black light" various vivid, colorful scenes appear. Miss Kaufmann has also painted many oil paintings for individuals.

The chalk drawings are done with the accompaniment of vocal solos, vocal duets, piano or organ music.

In the past year Arelene Wilkins has added to her list of musical instruments the saxophone, which she plays with accordion accompaniment. Besides the saxophone, piano and organ, Miss Wilkins plays the cowbells, concert choral glasses and vibraphone.

The Gospel team has just welcomed a new member this month, Miss Lois Welch, of Cold Lake, Alberta, Canada. Lois Welch has been in many of the churches in the northern United States presenting a musical program with her brother and sister-in-law, Miss Welsh.

The children are invited to attend a children's class each evening taught by Joyce Kaufmann. The children enjoy visual aids, puppets, visualized songs, and story telling during this time.

Rock 4-H Club Plans Bake Sale Friday

The Rock 4-H club members voted to sponsor a combination bake sale and potted plant sale at the Rock Coop Store on Friday, Sept. 22, starting at 3:30 p.m. and continuing until everything is sold.

Carolyn Kulack and Vickie Layman are in charge of the sale. The club will accept any donations of rags at this time.

Christine Mankiewicz and Vickie Layman are co-chairman for making the National 4-H club week display, from Sept. 30-Oct. 7. The display will be at the Rock Coop Store. The theme is, "A World of Opportunity."

Other business discussed during the Sept. 13 meeting was the sale of the mending glue. Members voted to order more glue and it will be available from Weldums or Kulacks in the future. Mrs. Weldum reported that only a few of the zip directories remain of the original 200 ordered in May.

Vickie Layman reported on the Rock 4-H club float which was judged the most outstanding in Labor Day parade. The theme was, "4-Hers of the World."

Debbie Hall, Eugene Layman and Francine Tronby joined the club. Winter projects will include liquid embroidery, sewing, knitting, and personal improvement. Woodwork and electrical will be offered to the boys if a leader can be found. Anyone interested can contact Mrs. Weldum.

Personal improvement on "Toppers" will begin Thursday, Sept. 21. All members enrolled in this project are to report at the home of their leader, Mrs. Lawrence Wilcox, immediately after school.

Dianne Westlund and Carolyn Kulack served lunch.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Men who have their shirts done up by the laundry often run into the problem of which shirt has long or short sleeves, or French cuffs. They have to tear the shirt out of the plastic bag to check the sleeves, especially when time is short.

Well, I mark my shirts inside the collar with an indelible ballpoint pen, using a Roman numeral I for a short sleeved shirt, II for a long sleeved shirt, and III to denote a shirt with French cuffs.

N. F. McNaughton

Thanks, Sir, for writing.

Your idea is great! Or you could just use the letter S for short, L for long, and F for French. Bless you.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I had just washed my kitchen trash basket and was trying to think how I could keep from doing this mean chore every day.

Then all at once I remembered that our office refuse container was lined with plastic. So why couldn't I use those plastic dry-cleaner bags?

After tying a small knot to close the neck opening, I placed the plastic garment bag neck down into the basket. Then I stretched the open bottom of the bag around the outer edge of the container. Next I placed a large grocery bag into the basket. Presto, a perfect liner!

Since I have been doing this, I have not had to wash my waste-basket nearly so often. If the plastic liner gets soiled during the week, I dump it out with the trash and insert a new one. The basket is free of soil and doesn't have to be washed.

A man's suit bag works fine. If you have to use a ladies' garment bag, allow the extra plastic to bunch up in the bottom. It gives better protection to your trash basket.

Eleanor McCray

And what a perfect trash basket liner. All for free, too! But let's all remember to keep those plastic bags OUT of reach of children.

"SELECTING A SOFA"

SELECTING A SOFA is often the single most important decision you'll make in decorating your home. Cost is one reason, since the sofa is one of the largest pieces you will buy. Even more significant, the sofa sets the style of your living room. If you favor the popular trend towards elegance, you'll want a sofa whose grace of line and richness of fabric will set the elegant tone of the room. While it is possible and often very effective to mix different styles or periods in the same room, it is a good rule to choose the sofa in the room's dominant style, whether it be modern, contemporary or traditional.

Because of its size, the sofa is also a vital key to your color scheme. For instance, you can choose a fabric with several colors, in a print or striped pattern, and pick up the various colors in other pieces of furniture and in the walls and carpeting. Or you can select a fabric for your sofa similar to the background color, leaving you free to accessorize with contrasting colors.

Give a lot of thought to the sofa before you choose — you won't replace it very often. And be sure to see our selection of fine sofas and sectionals, available in a wide range of decorator fabrics.

DAN MYLANDER, back in action for the Eskymos after being hobbled by an ankle injury, makes the big play that resulted in a 6-0 victory over Canadian Soo here Saturday. ## Esky Wins Third Straight Over Tough Canadian Foe

By RAY CRANDALL
(Press Sports Editor)

A big, rugged Canadian Soo football team stormed into Escanaba Saturday and threatened to put the first blot on a perfect Eskymo record before bowing to a relentless fourth quarter touchdown drive that gave Coach Jerry Cvenegros' gridders a 6-0 triumph.

The veteran Soo Collegiate Wildcats found, as had two previous victims, that Escanaba's ground defenses were virtually impenetrable. The invaders took to the air lanes and enjoyed considerably more success in acquiring gridiron real estate.

Escanaba's battle tested defense had its toughest assignment of the season as the offense committed a string of near fatal errors. The Eskymos turned the ball over to the Canadians four times on fumbles and once on a pass interception.

The Orange and Black ground troops responded by limiting the Canadians to 37 yards rushing — all in the second half. Through the air the Wildcats gained 133 yards by completing nine of 24 aerial attempts.

Escanaba's grudging defense got a major assist from the Canadians themselves who had extreme difficulty adjusting to American grid regulations. Illegal procedure penalties were particularly costly to the Wildcats who lost 45 yards on seven infractions.

Spearheading Escanaba's explosive defense were a pair of reckless warriors. Butch LaBay and Vital VanDrese, who creamed enemy runners time and again. John Bennett, Bob Schaut, Ray Segorski, John Mileski and Jerry Brazeau were other defenders who turned in outstanding individual performances. Mileski and Jim Olsen recovered fumbles and Ken Robitaille intercepted a Canadian pass.

With junior quarterback Gregg Johnson stepping into the capable shoes of injured Steve Miketnac, the Eskymos had their own problems on offense, moving the ball in spurts and jerks. They gained 98 yards rushing against a husky Canadian front wall with senior Jerry Brazeau punching out 69 in 16 trips. Olsen was the only other Esky runner to get much yardage, gaining 35 in 12 assignments.

Johnson connected on three of a dozen aerials for 43 yards and one of the completions produced the game's only touchdown.

After a scoreless standoff for three frames the Eskymos staged a 65 yard drive which started early in the final quarter and covered 14 plays. Twice the Eskymos kept the march alive with fourth down plays — Johnson going three yards once and Robitaille three the next time.

The payoff came when Johnson pitched to Dan Mylander from the 15 yard line. Mylander, getting into action for the first time this season after missing the first two games with an ankle injury, hauled in the toss on the eight yard line and beat Soo's Glenn Little and Mike Rose to the right corner of the end zone.

The Canadians refused to give up and threw a mighty scare into Eskymo fans in the closing minute. A 36 yard pass from Doug Cozac to Rick Kaupp and a 15 yard interference penalty put the ball on the Esky 10 with 52 seconds remaining. Cozac then fired four straight passes but couldn't connect as Escanaba took over with 25 seconds to go.

Detroit Lions Surprise Packers With 17-17 Knot

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — The bite may be back in the Detroit Lions.

The Lions, making their official National Football League debut under rookie coach Joe Schmidt, did everything but defeat the world champion Green Bay Packers Sunday.

Although the Lions had to settle for a 17-17 tie against seemingly impenetrable Green Bay, they intercepted four Bart Starr passes — one more than all Packers foes were able to steal from the NFL's premier quarterback in 1966.

With tackle Alex Karras leading the way, the Lions also dumped Starr unceremoniously seven times for 58 yards in losses. Detroit added insult to injury by kicking a first-half field goal after gaining the ball on an inside kick.

"It's a little disappointing when you have a team down 17-

0 and don't win a football game, but don't forget, gentlemen," Schmidt told newsmen, "these are supposed to be the champions of the world and that means a little something."

"We're trying to build our pride and get our respectability back and I think we accomplished that . . . I think Green Bay knows it's been in a football game."

Packers Coach Vince Lombardi, miffed after the game ended with the scoreboard clock still showing one second left to play, stuck his head in the officials' dressing room and complained. "You made us look like lousy coaches out there."

The Packers had the ball on the Lion 38 — within field goal position — when the official clock expired.

But Lombardi was not without praise for Detroit, a team that won only four games last season. "Let's give the other team credit," said Lombardi. "The Lions played well." Karras played more than well, Lombardi said. "Karras was sensational."

The Packers, who did not play up to Lombardi's expectations despite almost overcoming a 17-0 deficit in the second half, "were fortunate to come out with a tie," the Green Bay coach said.

Starr, who was troubled through the training season with a rib injury, made no excuses for the interceptions that spoiled an otherwise exceptional day. "I just played poorly, that's all. I don't have anything else to say."

The veteran quarterback completed 14 of 23 passes for 321 yards.

It was the passes he completed to Detroit that got the Lions rolling. Tom Vaughn grabbed the first, which Starr underthrew to Boyd Dowler at the Detroit one. Mike Lucci, a middle linebacker who played a brilliant game, got the second at the Detroit 35.

Lucci's grab set up an apparent Detroit touchdown on a 15-yard Milt Plum to Ron Kramer pass but a holding penalty nullified the play.

Starr's next pass was picked off by Lem Barney. It was Detroit's third straight interception. Barney, who made a diving catch, bounced back on his feet and scrambled 24 yards for Detroit's first touchdown.

Schmidt had another surprise in store. He sprung it on the kickoff and inside boot. Schmidt said he got the idea from a study of Green Bay films.

Bruce Maher, who was to get the fourth Detroit interception, grabbed the ball at the Green Bay 49. Wayne Walker booted a 46-yard field goal four plays later. Amos Marsh slanted three yards off tackle for the final Detroit touchdown.

Karras didn't see anything unusual in the mistreatment of Starr. Said Karras matter of factly: "We dump him pretty good every game."

Tigers Blanked But Retain First Place

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit Tigers Manager Mayo Smith is looking toward a wild couple of weeks starting tonight against the Boston Red Sox — as the fantastic American League pennant race goes down to the wire.

"It's going to be a hectic two weeks. It's going to be a lot of fun, though, with the end of the road almost here," Smith said.

He kept his good humor after the Tigers were shut out by the Washington Senators 5-0 Sunday. By losing, the Tigers missed an opportunity to open up some daylight in the pennant race, but they held on to first place.

Chicago shut out Minnesota 4-0 to move within a half a game of Detroit. The Twins are one game off the pace, tied for third with Boston who lost to Baltimore 5-2.

Washington hurler Frank Bertaina was tough in the clutches and stopped Detroit on seven hits.

"Bertaina changed the speeds on the ball real good," Smith said.

The Tigers will send Denny McLain to the mound tonight as they try to preserve their slim hold on first place.

Sunday the Senators jumped on John Hiller in the first inning. Hank Allen singled, Ken McMillen doubled him to third and Frank Howard brought him home with a sacrifice fly.

The Tigers looked as though they would come back in the bottom of the first inning. Mickey Stanley walked, but was forced by Dick McAuliffe. Al Kaline walked. Willie Horton flied out, but Bill Freehan singled, filling the bases.

Don Wert struck out, however, as Bertaina toughened.

In the second inning, with two out, Hiller made first on an error and Stanley singled. But McAuliffe struck out to end the inning.

The Senators made another in the fourth when Howard walked and Fred Valentine doubled him home.

In the disastrous fifth Mike Epstein walked and was forced by Bertaina. Tim Lincecum singled and that was the end for Hiller.

Pat Dobson relieved and Hank Allen hit his first pitch, catching Allen hit his first pitch for a three-run homer.

"It wasn't a bad pitch," catcher Freehan said. "It was a fast ball inside. He just hit it."

McMullen walked and Mike Marshall came on to pitch. Howard forced McMullen, Paul Cassanova walked and Valentine fouled out to end the inning.

"I had a little trouble with the breaking ball," Hiller said afterward.

"Hiller had pretty good stuff," Smith said. "Dobson wasn't throwing such good stuff. But anytime you bring anybody in as a relief pitcher in this ball park, it's liable to end up in the seats."

The Tigers never mustered another serious threat. Kaline doubled with two out in the fifth, but Horton struck out to end the inning.

Freehan led off the sixth inning with a double and went to third when Wert grounded out, but Bertaina struck out Norm Cash and pinch hitter Dave Campbell to end it.

Wayne Comer, just brought up from Toledo, singled to open the seventh as a pinch hitter, but Stanley hit into a double play and McAuliffe struck out.

Freehan got his third hit in the eighth, but Wert hit into a forecourt to end the inning. "I opened my eyes for a change," Freehan joked afterward.

"Sometimes I think I'm swinging with my eyes closed."

Freehan led off the sixth

HALFBACK LONNIE HOLTEN (33) breaks into the open on a 12-yard run for Northern Michigan against the University of Akron at Marquette Saturday afternoon. Holton scored two touchdowns, including the clincher, and rushed for 111 yards in NMU's come-from-behind 34-17 victory. (NMU photo)

Northern Wildcats Stage Comeback To Trip Akron

MARQUETTE — Northern Michigan stormed from behind to whip the University of Akron 34-17 before a standing-room-only Band Day crowd at NMU's Memorial Field Saturday afternoon.

Halfback Lonnie Holton's second touchdown of the afternoon put Northern ahead for the first time in the game, 17-14, midway in the third period, and before it was over, the 'Cats added two more TDs to put the game out of reach.

Akron scored first on a 28-yard burst by fullback Tony Moro. Holton came back with a Northern touchdown, capping a 72-yard drive, but the visiting Zips whipped into the end zone again on Jack Beidelman's 24-yard run to lead 14-7 at the quarter.

Phil DePerro brought Northern a halftime tie when he wheeled 56 yards on a punt return late in the second period. The second of Gene Grady's four PATs made it 14-14 at the intermission.

Akron place-kicker Dave Kosoy booted a 47-yard field goal early in the third period, putting Akron back into the lead 17-14, but Holton came back with his second touchdown to put the 'Cats in front to stay.

Northern added a pair of insurance touchdowns before the game was over. Quarterback Rich McCarthy, Kingsford junior, passed 27 yards to end Jesse Jenkins on a fake field goal, and linebacker Jack Spuhler, Sault Ste. Marie, went 35 yards with an intercepted pass.

The victory was costly for NMU, however. Offensive tackle Dennis Porter, senior co-captain from Sault Ste. Marie, was lost for the remainder of the season with a first-half knee injury.

Films of Northern's 34-17 victory, second of the season for the Wildcats, will be seen tonight at 10 CDT on WNMRTV.

Iverson, Peterson Win Racing Finales

The 1967 stock car racing season came to a close Saturday night at the U.P. Fairgrounds with Bob Iverson and Dick Peterson capturing the feature races.

Iverson took over first after car trouble forced Jerry Richer to the sideline in the 40-lap modified feature. Iverson pushed his car to its maximum and had lapped the entire field at the end of the race. Peterson edged out his brother, Gordie, for the sportsman feature. Dick took the lead near the end of the race, while Gordie finished second and Bill Deshampe third.

In the first modified heat Ed Prove moved out to an early lead and took the checkered flag, while Jim Valquette was second. In the second heat Jerry Richer moved up from the back of the pack to take first with Allen Yelle finishing second.

Dennis Kivioja won the first sportsman heat, with Bernhart Lewis second. Duke Gardner won the second heat with Art LaFave second. The third heat went to Ken DuBois, with Ray Mott second. Marvin Jacobson captured the semi feature sportsman race. Wallen Godlewski was second and Art LaFave third.

Time trials for the evening were won by Jerry Richer in the modified class with a time of 20.44, and Dick Peterson the sportsman at 21.95.

Racing activities conclude with the annual banquet to be held Sept. 30 at the Riverland Ball Room. Awarding of trophies and entertainment are on the agenda. Tickets for the banquet can be purchased from Jerry Richer, Ray Gardner, Art Rupert Sr., Bob Bowden or by contacting any of the drivers.

Wild Sunday As Pro Grid Teams Start

By The Associated Press

Johnny Unitas gave a record passing performance — but his Baltimore teammates presented the game ball to another player.

Chicago's Gale Sayers carried the ball from scrimmage seven times, but he didn't carry it very far in experiencing the worst day of his pro career.

Bart Starr lost the ball on interceptions four times in the first half — he threw just three interceptions all of last season — but then found the target and helped save the Green Bay Packers from a stunning loss.

These were just a few of the wild doings Sunday in the annual football happening known as the opening of the National Football League.

Unitas completed 23 of 32 passes for a club record 401 yards and Bobby Boyd won the game ball by interception two passes, one for a touchdown, as Baltimore held off Atlanta 38-31. Sayers gained just two yards as Chicago was trounced 41-13 by Pittsburgh, and Starr set up a touchdown and field goal with passes as the defending champions salvaged a 17-17 tie with Detroit.

In other NFL action, Los Angeles got past New Orleans 27-13, Philadelphia topped Washington 35-24, San Francisco outlasted Minnesota 27-21, Dallas beat Cleveland 21-14 and the New York Giants upset St. Louis 37-20.

Houston stopped Buffalo 20-3, Oakland trounced Boston 35-7 and Miami drubbed Denver 35-21 in the American Football League.

Unitas, who completed 11 of 15 passes for 255 yards in the first half, combined with Tom Matte on an 8-yard TD pass play on the first play from scrimmage and also hit Jimmy Orr on a 55-yard scoring strike as the Colts built up a 31-7 lead at intermission.

But the Falcons, who scored in the first period on Ron Jones' 70-yard

Smith's 99-yard kickoff return, roared back to make it 31-24 before Matte scored the winner on a 10-yard run in the fourth quarter.

Sayers followed a first-period Pittsburgh field goal by returning the ensuing kickoff 103 yards for a touchdown but was stymied thereafter, gaining just two yards from scrimmage and setting out most of the second half.

Willie Asbury ran for two Pittsburgh touchdowns and Bill Nelson passed for another pair.

New Orleans, opening its first NFL season, stunned Los Angeles when John Gilliam ran the opening kickoff back 94 yards for a TD. But then the Rams defense took over to hold the Saints to two field goals.

Roman Gabriel ran for one Ram touchdown and ran for another.

Norm Snead and fullback Tom Woodeshick led the Philadelphia attack against Washington. Snead threw two TD passes and Woodeshick ran for two more scores. Washington's first TD came when John Love returned the opening kickoff 96 yards.

San Francisco built up a 27-0 three-quarter lead on three TDs by rushing, one a 64-yard gallop by Doug Cunningham, and a pair of Tommy Davis field goals, and then held on as Minnesota scored three times in the final period. Ron Vanderkelen passed for one touchdown and ran for another.

Linebacker Chuck Howey's 28-yard TD run with an intercepted pass gave Dallas a 21-7 lead and proved to be the clincher against Cleveland. Don Meredith passed for the other Dallas scores, Frank Ryan threw one TD pass for Cleveland.

Fran Tarkenton, hit on only two of eight passes, as the Giants fell behind St. Louis 10-7 at halftime, but then threw for three TDs. Homer Jones caught two of them, one for 70 yards.

Top Paying Jobs At GM Open Up, But Don't Apply

DETROIT (AP) — Two of the highest paid and most responsible jobs in the business world are expected to become vacant next month but don't bother applying for them.

A star-studded field of candidates is on hand already for the positions which carry salary and bonuses of around $750,000 a year each.

The jobs are those of chairman of the board and president of General Motors.

Frederic G. Donner, board chairman and chief executive officer of GM since Sept. 1, 1958, is the chief figure in the anticipated changes in the top echelon of the world's biggest industrial firm.

Donner will reach the retirement age of 65 on Oct. 4. Two days prior to that, GM's 25-man board of directors will gather in New York to discuss his successor.

There is a remote possibility that the directors might amend GM's bylaws to give Donner another year on the job but betting odds on that are mighty slim.

Roche Most Likely
Most observers believe that James M. Roche, 60, who became GM president in June, 1965, will be moved up to the post of board chairman and chief executive officer.

If that happens — and there are many "ifs" in the picture — GM directors are expected to dip down into the ranks of GM vice presidents to pick the 14th president of the world's largest auto company.

Four names are mentioned most frequently as possible candidates but still others are brought up occasionally in one of autodrom's favorite guessing games of the moment... picking GM's next president.

In alphabetical order they are:

Packaged Hunt Is Offered By Soo Hostelry

SAULT STE. MARIE — Whether the Michigan hunter has softened up any in the past dozen years is the object of an experiment by a local hotel-keeper.

The Ojibway Motor Hotel here has worked up a package plan for hunters under which they can bunk from one to four men to a room. The plan includes a hunter's breakfast, a packaged lunch for the woods, bus service to the hunting grounds, guide service when they get there, bus service back to the hotel in the evening, and a hunter's dinner in the comparatively luxurious Bavarian dining room.

"All the hunter needs to bring are his guns, license, and personal gear," the motel says. "We supply the rest."

The plan starts with the small game season opening Oct. 1 and runs on through to the end of the deer and bear season in early December.

For the use of duck hunters, where specialized facilities are necessary, the motel has contracted for the use of ten duck blinds in Brimley Bay, 24 miles west of the Sault.

Edward N. Cole, 57, executive vice president, who built an impressive record during his years as head of GM's bread and butter division, Chevrolet. His forte is engineering and manufacturing.

Semon E. Knudsen, 54, executive vice president in charge of nonautomotive, Canadian and overseas operations, and son of the late Gen. William S. Knudsen, a former president of GM. Semon Knudsen made his mark in GM when he took the Pontiac division, which was practically on the floor, and built it back into a powerful arm of GM's automotive empire. He also headed Chevrolet.

Edward D. Rollert, 55, executive vice president in charge of the car and truck and body and assembly divisions. He was general manager of Buick for six years and put a lot of new life into that division.

George Russell, 62, executive vice president for finance activities since 1958. GM traditionally has given lots of emphasis to putting into its top jobs men with solid financial training and Russell meets these requirements.

Strong Financiers
Donner and his two predecessors as board chairman—Alfred Bradley and Alfred P. Sloan Jr.—were regarded as strongest in the financial field.

Roche's all-round experience includes years as head of Cadillac division, including service in engineering, public relations and in finance, although the latter was not his main field. Those who favor Russell for the presidency say he would make a good running mate for Roche. Donner's $790,000 in salary and bonuses in 1966 made him the highest paid executive in U.S. publicly held business with Roche close behind with $730,000. The executive vice presidents' salaries, bonuses and options each ran to between $584,000 to $635,000.

The thinking of Donner and one of the men with whom he differs the most—Walter Reuther—will figure in the GM day of decision Oct. 2.

Watch Labor Talks
Reuther's United Auto Workers Union is in the midst of contract talks with the four U.S. auto companies, with Ford already struck.

If the auto labor situation should get red hot at GM, the directors could ask Donner to stay on as chairman for a few months until the labor front quiets down. That would delay the GM top echelon shakeup for a while and mean that Reuther for all practical purposes was the man who kept Donner in the No. 1 seat at GM a while longer.

One usually well informed source predicted Donner would step aside as chairman, but remain on the board of directors and two of GM's most powerful committees—policy and finance.

That would leave Roche in line for the chairmanship, plus the job of chief executive officer. It would leave to Roche a big say in picking the man president and chief operating officer—a job with a big salary and bonus but also with lots of headache.

GENERAL MOTORS DIRECTORS, meeting in New York in October, are expected to pick a new president from this group of executive vice-presidents. Board chairman Frederic G. Donner will reach retirement age two days after the meeting and most observers believe that James M. Roche, GM president, will be moved up to the post of Board chairman and chief executive officer. ## Fr. Kavanaugh Denies Charge

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP)—A Catholic priest and author who formerly served in Lansing, Mich., has accused his bishop of a "dishonest and damaging" comment about him.

The Rev. James J. Kavanaugh, author of "A Modern Priest Looks at His Outdated Church," replied to a statement by the Most Rev. Alexander Zaleski, Bishop of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Lansing.

Bishop Zaleski said last Friday that Father Kavanaugh "refused to accept any assignment in the Diocese of Lansing and is absent without my permission."

"This obviously means that he is a disobedient priest," the bishop said.

Father Kavanaugh, 36, now a counselor at the Human Resources Institute in LaJolla, said during the weekend that he was granted a leave of absence by the bishop "to write and reflect on my future in the church."

In a statement, he said he was offered a parish in southwestern Michigan in June 1966 but told Bishop Zaleski "I could not, in conscience, accept this parish because too many laws and practices of the church did not reflect the spirit of Christ.

"I am a validly ordained priest, free to work as a priest if I choose," Father Kavanaugh said. "If he the bishop wants to change that standing, he knows how to reach me. It is distressing to read of my status in the paper when I have not been personally informed."

Father Kavanaugh denied reports that he is engaged to be married. In his book, he wrote that priests should be allowed to marry.

"If I decide to marry," he said, "I will be married in the church and not sneak away like a fallen soldier. The day of fear and trembling is over. I am a free man under God and no bishop or institution can deprive me of that."

Daylight Time?

ALHAMBRA, Calif. (AP) — Herman, a crow that talks plainly, has lived in the backyard of the W. L. Copping residence for the past eight years. He has his own chair and the Copping decided to build him a sleeping pen after he started shouting, "Oh boy!" from the tops of neighbors' trees at 5:30 a. m.

No Cabinet officer has ever succeeded directly to the presidency of the United States. The office has never gone to any person beyond the vice president.

Enrollment Up

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — Northwestern Michigan College today began registering students for its 17th year of operation. The college estimated enrollment would reach nearly 1,400 this year.

Although the use of slang is generally thought of as being American only, the language of every country has similar picturesque expressions.
